HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

FIRST
NATIONAL BANK OF PORTLAND.
SAVINGS DEPARTMENT!

THIS BANK has established, in connection with its general Banking business, a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT, and will allow interest on coin deposits made in accordance with the conditions adopted by this Bank.

In establishing a Savings Department this Banking Association has in view the benefits to accrue to a class of persons having small sums to loan, by providing a safe place of deposit, ample security and fair rate of interest, as well as to aggregate and bring into use idle capital.

For the safety of deposits in this Bank are pledged its entire capital and resources, and also the personal liability of its Directors and Stockholders as provided by Section 12 of the National Currency Act, approved June 3d, 1864, a greater security than that given by ordinary Savings Banks. Printed copies of the conditions upon which deposits are received may be had upon application to the Bank.

When I first [illegible] are [illegible] ag [illegible] After [illegible] Subsequent journeys have [illegible] furnished me with subjects. Now [illegible] my journeys are over [illegible] though I doubt less shall [illegible] from the change. [illegible] I seek to apply the result of his experience in travel to the benefit of America [illegible] Americans are [illegible] in their [illegible] character [illegible] [illegible] of the same superficial nature. They are all [illegible]. Our reformers seek to work chiefly by repression. It is my intention to take a liberal view. The agencies of our growth are most varied. My experience has been that too much of the responsibility for vice is placed upon our moral nature. During the last twenty-five years I have seldom heard anything else used in connection with social reforms. While I most truly honor this spirit I am unable to agree with the action of this class of reformers. Divesting ourselves of our prejudices we find that good and evil are largely relative terms. In searching to the root of things we frequently find that virtue and vice frequently spring from the same source. In fact there are few evils which are not distorted virtues. Lowell says: "The massive foreheads carry the day but only when they are based on massive hind heads." Our worst vices frequently spring from pure and noble passion. The gulf between use and abuse is too frequently overlooked. The passions which unchecked lead to licentiousness and intemperance are simply the basis of fundamental power. We must not build our ruin before we have laid the foundation of our temple. There is danger in denouncing these evils as essentially dangerous. There are as many who lack these passions as there are who have them in excess. A man who kills his passions is pitiable. A man who cultivates and trains them is noble. Habitual drunkenness, even before it becomes a disease, is the result of two noble impulses, the desire for social intercourse and the desire to leave work for a time. Both of these impulses in themselves are good and noble. To drink for a stimulant is a great mistake, but those who seek total abstinence are no less mistaken. Our sole duty is to elevate and govern our passions, not to destroy them. The cold and unsympathetic nature must not condemn the warm one or seek to measure everything by his his own yard stick. It is the fault of our nation to judge by the exterior and to be proud of negative virtues. If a man agrees with us in form, we do not seek to enquire whether his opinions go below the surface. What part of a moral help or is that which only acts as an opiate, temporarily removing the pain without curing the disease? In a similar manner many of our reformers work. What benefit can there be in simply belonging to a temperance society? No delusion is more fatal than to suppose that the mere utterance of truth is the extent of our duty. In this country the mere preaching of opinions ought to count for less than elsewhere. Let me touch upon the general topics of reform which are of more immediate interest.

The peace principal seems to me mainly a beautiful ideal, but where we have the true manly courage it does harm. So long as it teaches men to be magnanimous instead of revengeful and discourages brutality it is commendable. But the number of the advocates of this principal is so small that it is perhaps ungenerous to criticise them.

Temperance touches us more nearly. Here the most violent conflict of opinion prevails. For thirty years it has been the source of a constant and dangerous agitation. Temperance and excess have constantly existed side by side. The pledge never will touch the root of the evil. The cause has been injured by connection with politics, by false statements as to the character of different intoxicating drinks, and by the ignorant reliance of parents in the efficacy of temperance societies. Restraint over the body is perhaps the most repugnant of all restraints. It is dangerous legislation to attempt to restrain society from excess. The principle would apply to eating and other habits as well as to drinking. In thinking of the straight jackets that have been placed upon the human race, it is a wonder that there are so few vices. Each school of reformers has its different panacea. The ignorant man who should follow the advice of all would be a simple, limpid, rag. My experience is that drunkenness decreases with the increase of the use of light fermented drinks. The Greeks are the most temperate people I know and they drink wine every day. Modern science has overthrown many of the theories of the temperance party. The advocates of temperance neglect to study the origin of drunkenness. It will not do to call all beverages rum. Tobacco on the whole occasions much less harm in this country than pork fats and pies. Dyspepsia and neuralgia have become national diseases but it is perfectly moral to have them. We could not live without poisons. The proper use of a thing is life, the improper use is death, and that is all there is of it.

As for woman's rights, it is not fairly presented. The question of right cannot fairly be applied to the sex. The advocates of the sex do not admit that woman has a different organization. The radical eternal difference of the sex is rarely touched upon. Women speak of taxation without representation, but say little about military duty and similar masculine responsibilities.

Abstract rights are spoken of, with [illegible] practical results. Absolute right should not always be exercised any more than it [illegible] that the sexes [illegible] grow together and that woman will certainly receive all the rights she can effectively exercise. And her example is best force of example. Within certain limits this is [illegible]. I [illegible] increases the mental and moral [illegible] [illegible] this country whereas we need [illegible] and intellectual independence. We should teach independence and self respect. The notion of moral responsibility has made many good people in this country timid. We don't want any more restrictions. There are too many already. We try to restrain our children and to mould them after the pattern of our neighbors. We ought to break the barriers so as to respect differences of opinion.

Teach a boy self knowledge, self respect and self control, and he will take care of the rest. We should strengthen him for the encounter [illegible] stead of [illegible] but he can't hear the [illegible]. If [illegible] self reverence he will [illegible] [illegible] learn the [illegible] use and the degradation of abuse. By [illegible] to [illegible] they see an icy wall [illegible] flame. [illegible] dual liberty with [illegible] there is no strength for [illegible] than weakness [illegible] as warn [illegible] the exercise of [illegible] doubt [illegible] from Jeremiah [illegible]

English. There is no limit to the benefit [illegible] appreciation of the beautiful. It [illegible] without bitterness and [illegible]

The man who studies harm by [illegible] [illegible] success. Excess and true refinement are always antagonistic. The Quaker and Puritan [illegible] We have no amusements. Among the causes of excess here not the least is the neglect of the graces and the pleasures of our common life. Wealth in this country has no necessary connection with refinement. Nay more we have no social standard which makes these qualities necessary. We are more likely to find them in the farmer's daughter than in the fashionable belle with her [illegible] [illegible] society does not yet exist.

The Committee on Ways and Means received to day a report from Mr. Kelley, of the Sub-Committee, which proposes to let the duties on iron stand generally as they are but raise the duties on steel and nickel. The indications are that the committee will propose on pig iron $6 or $7 instead of the present duty $9.

The last number of the Agitator, the organ of the Woman's Suffrage movement at Chicago, announces that the paper has passed into the hands of a joint stock company with ample capital and will be hereafter published simultaneously at Boston and Chicago. The Red Stockings at their monthly meeting to night (Dec. 7th) read the report of the averages of the nine for the past season. The report showed that fifty seven games were played, in which the Cincinnatis made a total of 2,395 runs, while their opponents made 574. George Wright made 339 runs and was caught out four times on a foul and four times on a fly during the entire season. The Constitution has been amended to make the membership and fees ten dollars, being double that of last year.

Judge Dent, the defeated candidate for Governor of Mississippi, arrived here yesterday (Dec. 6th) and this morning called upon the President, his brother in law. The Judge complains that but for the interference of General Ames he would have been elected by a large majority. Dent says Ames, and the troops under him, intimidated the white voters, and many of them were not allowed to go to the polls. The negroes went back on the Conservatives, and voted the Radical ticket. The President does not sympathise with Dent, but is unconcealed in his gratification at the election of the Radical ticket.

THE STEAM BELT AROUND THE WORLD.—Rev. Dr. Dodd, in his California book, closes a notice of the Pacific railroad with this fine portrayal of the completed steam belt around the world, and its influences upon civilization:

It was the last link needed to belt the globe. You leave New York by steam to Liverpool; by steam on land you spin through France, by steam you go from France, on the water, to Alexandria; from Alexandria, on rail steam takes you to Suez; from Suez to China or Japan, on water by steam; from China to San Francisco by steam; and now again the link is supplied, overland by rail to New York, about one sixth of the whole distance by this new channel. Now the couriers of civilization can go round the earth in three months. And this earth-born daughter of strength wends her way, as we should expect, among and through the highest, most civilized nations of the earth. There is England, a hive of industry on a little earth spot in the ocean, made brilliant by a galaxy of talent, planting her colonies all over the earth, aggressive, massive, the true successor of the Roman power. There is France, with her artistic civilization, the creator and umpire of taste, the queen of fashion, and the wonder in the workmanship of what is beautiful. There is Egypt, a land that ever has been and ever will be a puzzle. There is China with its immovable half civilization, abiding her time; and old India, waiting for the British people to do for her what she cannot do for herself; and here is the New World working out for the human race the great problem of human government, individual freedom, the highest civilization, and the problem of human responsibilities and aspirations and achievement;—this New World having been the last nation to take the torch of freedom directly from the hand of God, and in the best possible position to hold it up in the presence of the earth; and here is the church of God sublimated and set free from the materialism of past ages, and leaning on the breast of her Beloved as no church ever did before! Why, it seems as if around this great highway of nations, God had gathered the wealth, the population, the intelligence, the civilization and the religion of the earth, and here are to run the shuttles that shall weave the garments of peace and good will which all nations shall soon put on. Here on this pathway are to be found the nativity of the temperate zone, the institutions of learning which are to be the school house of the nations, and also the pure Christianity which is to be the leaven that is to leaven the whole lump. Whatever of education, learning, intelligence, virtue, progressive thought, human freedom, power to plan and power to do, which earth possesses is on this line of quick communication. And can you see nothing but freight and cars and the smoke of the locomotive? Humanity now revolves around this great axis created by man, and it is to be the center for the reconstruction of humanity. It will be the highway of commerce and of learning, of brotherly kindness, of the messengers of peace, and of the gospel of Christ. I see no tokens of decay, but of new life [illegible] mingling of blood; and when I see this great [illegible] supplied, letting in our east and bringing [illegible] East, China and the like, to be their west, I can see a future for the Atlantic slope [illegible] the [illegible] mighty valley and of the [illegible] slope such as I never saw before.

TREATMENT OF SMALL POX.—In view of the reappearance of small pox on this coast, this item may be of use:

A great discovery is said to have been recently made by a surgeon of the British army [illegible] an effectual remedy for small pox. The mode of treatment is as follows: When the preceding fever is at its hight, and just before the eruption appears, the chest is rubbed with [illegible] and tartaric ointment. This causes the whole of the eruption to appear on that part of the body to the relief of the rest [illegible] full and complete eruption [illegible] [illegible] the disease from attacking [illegible] [illegible]. This is now the established [illegible] treatment in the English army [illegible] regarded as a perfect cure.

The editor of an [illegible] paper called on his Chinese washerman and [illegible] him [illegible] making [illegible] of his undergarments. The rejoinder: "John was [illegible] dirty shirt wash [illegible] no get cleanee [illegible] skin [illegible] clean off. No wan [illegible] charges two dollar dozen, [illegible]"

MISCELLANEOUS EASTERN NEWS

DATES TO DEC. [illegible]

Hog cholera has broken out among slop fed [illegible] At one distillery they are dying at the rate of twenty to twenty five per day.

In the court of claims judgments were rendered the past year on 54 claims; 24 were dismissed; aggregate amount claimed $2,600,000; awarded $900,000.

General Rosecrans was the guest of the Union League Thursday night. He leaves shortly for Indianapolis to attend the meeting of the army of the Cumberland.

The Peoria Review after January 1 will be issued under the name of the Review Publishing Company, having changed from an individual to a stock concern.

The Judiciary Committee is considering a report of the sub-committee which took the evidence in the Busteed case, and it will require some time to reach a conclusion.

The Internal Revenue Commissioner has decided that a rectifier of the distilled products of any distillery or brewery must pay a tax as a liquor dealer no matter where or how he sells.

In the Internal Revenue Bureau during the month of November 583,600 distilled spirit stamps were issued, valued at $5,000,000, and tobacco stamps to the value of $1,800,000.

John O'Mahony, the Fenian, has applied to the court for an order for $5,000 of the Fenian fund held by Belmont, to be used in carrying on a war against England. The decision is reserved.

The President declines to discuss the subject of the removal of the capital, and says it is not proper for him to take sides one way or the other, it is a question for Congress and the people to decide.

The Supreme Court of Missouri, in the case of vouchers for supplies to the army, which vouchers were stolen in Arkansas, decided that an innocent purchaser was responsible to the original owners for any amount collected from the Government thereon.

The Secretary of the Navy holds the report of the Board appointed to settle the difference between the line and staff officers. The Naval Committee intend to take this matter up, and will probably call for the report by resolution. Unless they do this, it will not be transmitted.

The House Judiciary Committee has instructed its Chairman to report a bill repealing the amendatory and the original Tenure-of-office bill. It is expected that this will give rise to a protracted debate, as a large number of members and some Senators are in favor of retaining the power now held over the Executive.

The Indianapolis Journal denies authoritatively the report from Washington that Senator Morton has expressed himself in favor of a tariff for protection and opposed to a reduction of taxes. He favors the bill providing for the equalization of the currency, thus giving the West and South their proper proportion of the circulation.

The Internal Revenue Commissioner decides that, although distillers and brewers can sell at the place of manufacture so long as they sell in the original casks or packages, to which tax stamps are affixed, without payment of tax as liquor dealer, a rectifier of his distilled products cannot sell without paying a tax as a liquor dealer at any place.

Don Quixote Trumbull

Yesterday we published [illegible] summary of Mr Trumbull's bill [illegible] entitled [illegible] members of Congress from im[illegible] [illegible] the different departments of the government [illegible] bill and reasons for supporting it Mr Trumbull recites a [illegible] of things which we have no doubt [illegible] to a greater or less degree But the facts [illegible] are not new in this country nor are they unknown in other countries There was [illegible] a time since society became organized [illegible] governments, since there were offices to [illegible] pose of, when there were not seekers for office, and if human nature be not radically changed there never will be Neither was there ever a time when office seekers [illegible] not have their friends and partisans [illegible] will there be Mr Trumbull proposes to relieve members of Congress from the importunities of such people not by making it fineable to apply for an office but to introduce a penalty for recommending (by a Congressman) any applicant If our government were so limited in population and extent as to render it possible for the President to know personally concerning the fitness of applicants for office, it might be well enough to cut off from him his Congressional advisers, but to apply Mr Trumbull's plan in a country like ours where the President in a very large proportion of cases, never saw or heard of the applicant, where he may go through his whole term without every seeing or knowing anything of nine out of ten of his appointees, except as he may be informed by members of Congress, the idea is Quixotic If, for instance, a man apply from Oregon for an office, and our Senators and Representative be forbidden to recommend or to express an adverse opinion, how will Mr Trumbull have the President informed as to his fitness? It strikes us that his bill might more appropriately be called a bill to compel the President to go it blind in the matter of appointments At all events that would be the effect of it, if it could be enforced. It would be no more Quixotic in Mr Trumbull to introduce a bill to make Congressmen virtuous, and compel them to recommend only the right man for the right place He ought, at least to remember that constituencies generally send men to Congress whom they are willing to trust in the matter of their share in appointments as well as in other matters, and further, that there is no reason why a Congressman should not be considered as competent to advise as another [illegible] It is no argument in favor of his bill that mistakes have been made, and that unfit men have been appointed to office. Under any conceivable state of things, or with advice from any possible source obtained in any possible way, this is liable to occur. The true remedy for the evils of which Mr Trumbull complains, lies with the Congressmen themselves, more than with anybody else. Let them recommend men for their worthiness and fitness, and we will [illegible] have [illegible] in office But we do not believe that, the evils connected with office getting are greater or of more frequent [illegible] now than at any other period in our national existence, in proportion to the number of offices to be filled; nor do we believe that were Mr. Trumbull's bill to become the law, it would prove effective. If he were to procure the passage of a law to make it a penal offense to seek an appointment [illegible] there would be just as many applications in some way, as now, and so of recommendations by Congressmen Let Mr. Trumbull reform the world so that only the good, the virtuous and the fit shall apply for office, and then he will have the beginning of his political millenium, never before

[illegible] Lawyers in California

History repeats itself; and we may add, so does tom-foolery. At the last meeting of the Legislature of Oregon, the Laboring Lawyers consumed a considerable part of the session in trying to make a law to abolish the Chinese; to render nugatory some of the plainest decisions of the courts, and to declare inoperative so far as this State is concerned, certain treaties between the United States and foreign countries It was tom-foolery of the most palpable sort, but it was just suited to the calibre of the Democratic legal minds which had the matter in hand We find, however, that this attempt to usurp a function which belongs exclusively to the national Government, no longer stands as a lone example of Democratic tom-foolery. The California Legislature has two bills pending before it quite of a similar sort. One of them has it in view to establish a Bureau of Chinese Immigration and a police system which will cost only about $60,000's a year, supposing the Chinese population to be 40,000, and to make every Chinese man, woman and child pay a license tax for the privilege of being and working within the State. The other proposes to make those who employ Chinese pay a quarterly license for so doing. Both these bills were introduced by Democratic members of the Laboring Lawyer school The one goes after the Chinese and the ship owners who bring them into the State, the other after the employers. Putting aside the constitutional question of the right of the Legislature to impose any terms upon immigration to legislate in favor of or against any class, in terms that do not affect all classes, and to regulate the right of free-born white men in the matter of whom they shall or shall not employ, it strikes us that the last mentioned bill has, at least, less tom foolery in it than the first. It will, at least reach Democratic employers of Chinese equally with others We presume that the social relations of employer and employe in California are much the same as in this State Suppose such a law were in force here In the justices' courts to-morrow morning, we should find records reciting that John Joe Democrat and Laboring Lawyer, was fined $50 for employing a Chinese cook, Richard Roe Democrat etc fined $100 for hiring a Chinaman to clean out his cellar, John Jones, Democrat etc fined $150 for employing six Chinamen in his woolen factory—and so on through the whole list of employments and from one end to the other of the State So far as such a law would affect employers in this State we imagine that the Democratic Laboring Lawyers and Knights of the Horny Hand would not have much the best of anybody If we are to have any tom foolery of this sort we go decidedly for that which will induce these Democratic brawlers against the Chinese to make their practices agree with their preachings

Editorial Notes

Just at present, Jay Gould is the most assiduously courted man in America He has been summoned to appear in various courts in Ohio, New York New Jersey Delaware and other places

The San Francisco [illegible] pays a high compliment [illegible] the [illegible] of the Immigrant Aid Association of Oregon in the matter of [illegible] advertising the advantages which the State offers to immigrants

The latest papers received from the east are full of discussions concerning the Richardson McFarland case The Herald is rough on Beecher and Frothingham for their part in the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] more recent [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Democracy of the District of Columbia [illegible] recently [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the discovery that there are three children of African descent in one of the public schools [illegible] trouble is aggravated by the fact that nobody but a nigger knows who they are—they being so white as to baulk detection and the nigger won't tell Here is a situation truly for a high toned caucasian community!

It would seem from newspaper reports that the States of the Upper Mississippi are suffering from the scarcity of money and that in commercial circles there is a greater degree of distress than has prevailed for some years The Chicago papers mention the fact that many wholesale merchants are carrying a large amount of indebtedness on account of the failure of country merchants to pay their overdue obligations The country merchants in turn, cannot pay because the farmers and others to whom they have trusted their goods, are waiting for higher prices for their products or are constitutionally slow in paying debts At St Peters Minnesota the merchants held a meeting a few days since and resolved to sue on all old debts not paid before Dec 20th and in other places similar movements have been made the time of payment being, generally fixed for Jan 1st 1870

The Overland Monthly for January has been received This magazine has now entered upon its fourth volume with every prospect of maintaining an enviable rank in the magazine world, a position which it has achieved in a time so brief as to be matter of surprise to all its elder brothers and sisters in the Eastern and old world. The present number contains a number of articles of interest, several well told stories, some fair poetry as the world goes, and a number of excellent editorial notes under the head of "ETC" The contents are San Francisco, Avalon, Sea-Otters, Dutch Gap Canal, On some of our Birds, Frau Truchchen's Dream, Jem Gath erwood's Vision, Second Love, Point D'Ahm con, A Reminiscence of Travancore, "[illegible] mas has Come," Centrepole Bill, La Flor del Salvador, The Candidate from Bull Flat, Etc Current Literature

A Boston paper has a curious statement in regard to the effect of railroads upon climate It says: "The opinion seems to be gaining strength that the Pacific Railroad is working a great change in the climate of the Plains Instead of continuous drouths, all along the railroad rain now falls in refreshing abundance This result has been remarked upon in other sections of the West In central Ohio, for example, it is said the climate has been completely revolutionized since iron rails have formed a network all over that region. Instead of the destructive drouths formerly suffered there, for some four or five years there has been rain in abundance even more than enough to satisfy all the wants of farmers " The theory upon which these facts are accounted for is that the iron rails which touch each other, act as conductors of electricity, the great agent in the production of climatic changes. The currents being equalized and more uniform in strength of course, the section affected, will have more uniform rains and fewer electric outbursts, or thunder storms.

IDAHO

[From the Boise Statesman, Dec 16th.]

The Good Templars of Boise have a piece of ground selected, and will soon commence the erection of their building They intend to build an extra large hall in addition for, the accommodation of the public.

Mr Ad Quivey, who has just returned from the mines about forty miles up the river, says work has ceased for the season on account of the freezing weather A dozen or so men will winter there, who will devote their time to sawing out lumber and making other preparations for active work in the spring

The trial of Theodore Burmester, which is in progress at Idaho City, is creating no little interest in the public mind It progresses slowly, and several days will yet elapse before it is disposed of Passengers down last night said that out of about a hundred men a jury had not been selected

[From the World, Idaho City]

The Court appointed Sol Hasbrouck Esq reporter to take down the evidence in the case of the people vs Theodore Burmester As we go to press they were engaged in selecting a jury for the trial

ORO GRANDE, Dec 9 1869.—There was quite an excitement here last week about a prospect having been found on the middle fork of Leon creek, in Smith's district about three miles from Oro Grande, 25 cents to the pan and only two feet deep, with plenty of water About twenty five claims were recorded, and the prospect looks very favorable for good diggings in the upper district.

On the 2d inst. a party arrived from Montana bringing animals all the way through, and report about twenty feet of snow on the divides and about ten inches in Leesburg They came well heeled and calculate to invest

The tunnels are still in active operation but it will take some time yet to test matters

Mining in the creek has ceased for the winter Leon creek being frozen over in several places A prospect has also been found in the lower discoveries, and many are strolling down that way to file Our camp promises better than ever for another season. We have stag dances two and three times a week, and a general blow out on Friday evening next is anticipated

WASHINGTON, Dec 22.—In the Senate the House joint resolution extending the recess to January 10th was concurred in [illegible] ayes [illegible]

The bill for the payment of certain expenses [illegible] New Mexico was passed

[illegible] introduced a bill to allow the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] referred

[illegible] introduced a bill to carry [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the State of Virginia [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] substitute [illegible] the bill [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] The bill alleges various [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the organization of the present Legislature and declares the existing State government provisional only It directs the military commander of the first district to assemble within thirty days the present Legislature excluding all those who cannot take the test oath [illegible] [illegible] upon the question of the [illegible] [illegible] Amendment [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] representation in Congress upon the fundamental condition that the constitution of Virginia shall never be permitted to deprive any citizen of equal rights in every respect with all others

Wilson offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Military Affairs to consider the expediency of adding two to the number of Lieutenant Generals and reducing the number of Major Generals from five to three He explained that the object was to do justice to two eminent Generals Thomas and Meade whose great services to the country were universally recognized Williams moved to refer the bill to regulate immigration of Chinese to the United States to the Committee of Commerce He explained that the object of the bill was to prevent as far as possible the importation of coolies and dissolute Chinese women by avoiding all contracts for their importation and prohibiting agreements by the owners of vessels to transport persons from China except with the persons themselves to be transported It was the intention to protect the laborers of this country as far as practicable from that class of degenerate Chinese who were accustomed to subjection to another class and compelled to work for wages upon which a freeman would starve After a nd discussion the reference was agreed to The Senate passed a bill in relation to the International Industrial Exhibition in Washington The Vice President submitted a communication from the President containing correspondence called for by a resolution of the Senate relating to the Alabama Claims The Senate at two o'clock went into Executive session

In the House a number of bills were introduced and referred The house then went into a committee of the whole for general debate Cullom addressed the Committee on the subject of the apportionment under the next census favoring an increase of representatives to at least 300 and intimating that there would be at no distant day an amendment offered to the Committee to change the basis of representation in the Senate He thought the whole system of representation should be revised so that minorities as well as majorities can be represented

Dawes replied to the arguments of Cullom He represented the idea advanced as tending to the rights of States Washburn argued in favor of a Government system of postal telegraphy considering the report of the Postoffice Committee and considering the state of the companies Sargent addressed the committee on the subject of mining and mining laws in California A number of other members spoke on various subjects

The committee rose, when Stephenson introduced a bill to amend the internal revenue laws by repealing the clause allowing street railway cars to add the Government tax to their fare on passengers; also repealing the clause allowing gas companies to add the Government tax to the contract price of gas The House, at half past four, adjourned until January 10th.

The House resolution, relative to the death of George Peabody, was concurred in

Senate Proceedings

WASHINGTON, Dec 23.—The Senate remained in executive session from 2 o'clock P. M till after 7 in the evening After confirming a number of nominations of comparatively unimportant character, the nominations for Circuit Judges were taken up and the following confirmed George F Shepley of Maine 1st Circuit, Lewis B Woodruff, of New York, 2d, William McKennan of Penn, 3d, Wm B Woods, of Alabama, 5th, S L Withey, of Michigan 6th Thomas Drummond of Illinois, 7th, and John F Dillon of Iowa The nomination of Geo A. Pearce, of Maryland, for the 4th Circuit is understood to have met with some opposition and it is still pending, together with that of Lorenzo Sawyer for the 9th Circuit Before the latter nomination was reached for action, a motion prevailed to take up the name of Hoar for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court A very long and at times a strong debate ensued as to the propriety and advisability of confirming it. Finally it became apparent that a majority of the Senators present were opposed to his confirmation, and Hoar's friends moved that further consideration of the nomination be postponed This motion was negatived, as was also the next one—that the Senate now adjourn—and after that the first motion was made and tabled At this point a canvass of the Senate showed there was a majority of twelve in favor of the rejection of the nomination, and several of the New England Senators thereupon pledged themselves that if the majority would allow the nomination to be simply tabled, Hoar should be withdrawn from the Senate, and upon this understanding the nomination was accordingly tabled. A considerable number of nominations were not reached at all, and the failure of the Senate to confirm them cannot, therefore, be considered significant of their ultimate failure Among this number were that of Sickles, as Minister to Spain, and various consular appointments

WASHINGTON, Dec 23.—Among the nominations confirmed in the early part of the session, are those of Warren Cowles, of Pennsylvania, as U S Attorney for Dakota, H J W Moore, Postmaster at Salt Lake

Lieut Col Walter Franklin has been detailed as a Professor of Military Science in the Wisconsin University

The President has signed the Georgia reconstruction bill and Governor Bullock has issued a proclamation convening the Legislature on the 10th of January in accordance with the act

CHICAGO, Dec 22.—The Tribune's Washington special says the debate in the Senate on the nomination of Judge Hoar was one of the most singular ever heard and at times bitterly personal Trumbull was the only member of the Judiciary Committee who spoke in favor of confirmation It is understood the nomination will be withdrawn. An effort was made to induce the President to appoint a Southern man

The Alabama Claims Question

WASHINGTON Dec, 22.—The President has sent the Alabama claims correspondence to the Senate, in accordance with the resolution of Senator Sumner It is extremely lengthy A letter under date of Sept 25 1869, to Motley informs that gentleman that at the time of his departure from the United States the claims were not in a condition the most hopeful for negotiations and that subsidence of negotiations for a short time might allay excitement Lord Clarendon had expressed his agreement but the President of the United States now considers it appropriate to resume negotiations Secretary Fish says to Motley that "the President hopes Her Majesty's government will conduct further negotiations at Washington where any proposition will be received and carefully considered by the President Lord Clarendon's letter to Minister Thornton of the date of November 6 1869, refers to the dispatch of Secretary Fish on the causes of dissatisfaction to which the United States considers itself entitled with the British government during the late war Lord Clarendon says Secretary Fish's dispatch makes no proposition as to the manner in which such dissatisfaction may be remedied but he instructs Thornton to inform Fish that the British government will be ready to co-operate in any honorable manner to effect a satisfactory adjustment of the difficulties between the two countries in the Alabama claims

The Georgia Reconstruction bill was presented to the President for his signature to day

Confirmation of the Judges

CHICAGO, Dec 22.—Washington specials to the evening papers state that the Senate to day confirmed the nominations of all the new Circuit Judges The nomination of Hoar was tabled by a decided vote

MR. AND MRS. BATES.—The numerous [illegible] [illegible] of these [illegible] [illegible] artistes, will be glad to [illegible] [illegible] that one more opportunity will be given [illegible] [illegible] them on the stage before they finally lea[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] During the two weeks that Mr a[illegible] [illegible] have delighted our people with their [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] talents as an actor and actress, they [illegible] [illegible] gained a host of friends who will regre[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and join in wishing them a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] in their show [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] them that a crowded house [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] The bill offered is [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] that the entertainment will be one [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] patronage.

CHANGED.—Predictions about the wea[illegible] this country are more likely to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] wise. Wednesday the weather was jubila[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] while the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of a genuine [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the latter were [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] their herds to the Oregon [illegible] [illegible] while the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] having [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] weather line.

OPENINGS.—A short time ago the Street [illegible] [illegible] ordered all the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and the work was [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] in many places but in a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] on either side of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] a way as to prevent the water from flowing [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Thus pools of water are standing [illegible] [illegible] the sidewalk in a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

WORK DONE.—The two Standard [illegible] [illegible] city are supplied with grain [illegible] [illegible] from the full day The [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] running every day, two or three quarter [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] time The two foundries are [illegible] a fair share of business, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] over hours.

FUNERAL.—The funeral of Mr Welt[illegible] day, was attended by a large procession [illegible] [illegible] and by members of the various fire [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] in the city led by the Twenty-Third [illegible] Band. Services were held at the Presby[illegible] church, Dr Lindsley officiating.

HOLIDAY CHEER.—If everybody don't en[illegible] a good Christmas dinner it is not the fault [illegible] market men The meat markets are abun[illegible] supplied with all kinds of meats of the fattest [illegible] best, while turkeys, geese and chickens [illegible] abundant supply

OREGON HAMS We see by the California [illegible] [illegible] that Oregon hams are being favorably [illegible] ceived in the markets of our sister State. [illegible] of Salem and Johnson's of Portland bein[illegible] favorite qualities

SUNDAY SCHOOL FESTIVALS.—The following Sunday Schools in the city have made ample arrangements for the enjoyment of their Christmas festivals in the usual manner. The exercises will generally consist of singing, recitations, addresses, distribution of presents, etc. The hour of holding these happy meetings at the various Churches are as follows:

To-day, Trinity Church, corner of Oak and Second, at half past two o'clock in the afternoon.

Congregational, corner of Jefferson and Second, this evening at six o'clock.

Baptist, corner of Taylor and Third, at six this evening.

Presbyterian, corner of Third and Washington streets, in the evening at half past six.

Unitarian Society, at seven o'clock this evening at their church on Seventh street between Taylor and Yamhill streets.

Hall street Methodist Sunday School will hold their festival to-morrow evening at their church on Hall street.

The other churches in the city will doubtless have their anniversary festivities, but just the hours fixed by them for the occasion we were unable to learn; and presume that the "little ones" connected with the Sabbath schools will not be likely to forget the exact time when Santa Claus comes loaded with presents for them.

[illegible].—Parrott's creek, the southern terminus of the East side railroad track at present, is between five and six miles south of Oregon City.

[illegible] contains nine-tenths in value of the taxable property in Multnomah county, and one-[illegible] of the whole State.

No definite trace of Meek, who killed Jacob Smith at Hillsboro, has been found. We learn from a resident of Washington county that it is the prevailing impression there that Meek is in the mountains toward the coast.

[illegible] have been run to within a short distance [illegible], on the Tualatin, during the present [illegible]. The distance from Oswego, by water, is [illegible] miles; by land, less than twenty.

The arrivals at the hotels in the city yesterday [illegible] over one hundred and fifty.

The new little propeller U. S. Grant, Capt. [illegible], has been brought up to this city for the purpose of being repaired.

The steaming Astoria goes down the river this [illegible].

A layer of snow was on the ground yesterday morning, but ere nightfall it had all disappeared, and instead we have rain and mud.

[illegible].—Considering our distance from the [illegible] portion of our country, Portland has [illegible] fully as fast within the past decade as the [illegible] could have expected. The enterprise of her citizens has been fully up to the standard of the American people generally, and the [illegible] a mere trading post in the wilderness to a position among cities, properly so [illegible], has not been slow. However, there are [illegible] which have, certainly been, to [illegible] neglected. These wants of our city [illegible] alluded to at various times by the [illegible] and it is in hope of set[illegible] thinking upon them that we re[illegible] at this time. A market house of a [illegible], is one; the establishment of fire [illegible] the prescribing of certain bounds within [illegible] but fire-proof buildings should be [illegible] is another; and the building of a city [illegible] with which to sum in our present state [illegible] as a city. These improvements would [illegible] Portland many advantages which [illegible] not now possess, and would ultimately [illegible] her financial and permanent prosperity.

[illegible] Mrs. BATES.—The numerous friends [illegible] talented artistes, will be glad to learn [illegible] opportunity will be given to see [illegible] stage before they finally leave our [illegible] the two seasons that Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] delighted our people with their superior [illegible] is an actor and actress, they have [illegible] a host of friends who will regret their [illegible] and join in wishing them a prosperous [illegible] their chosen profession. It is due to [illegible] crowded house greet them to-morrow [illegible] bill offered is a sufficient guaranty [illegible] entertainment will be one well worthy of [illegible].

[illegible] Predictions about the weather in [illegible] more likely to miss it than other [illegible] the skaters were jubilant with [illegible] web-foot were shivering over the [illegible] genuine "freeze-up." Yesterday [illegible] wading in" the mud and having [illegible] the Oregon mist, while the former [illegible] their skates went on their way, [illegible] uncertain is everything in the [illegible].

[illegible].—A short time ago the Street Com[illegible] all the crosswalks in the city [illegible] the work was done and well done [illegible] but in some the mud was only [illegible] either side of the crossings in such [illegible] the water from flowing in any [illegible] that pools of water are standing next [illegible] in a number of places.

[illegible].—The two flouring mills in this [illegible] supplied with grain sufficient to run [illegible] day. The three saw mills are all [illegible] day, two on three-quarter time, the [illegible] time. The iron foundries are doing [illegible] business, some of them working [illegible].

[illegible] The funeral of Mr. Weiser yester[illegible] by a large procession of citi[illegible] members of the various fire compa[illegible] city, led by the Twenty-Third Infant[illegible] services were held at the Presbyterian [illegible] Lindsley officiating.

[illegible] CHEER.—If everybody don't enjoy a [illegible] dinner it is not the fault of our [illegible]. The meat markets are abundantly [illegible] with all kinds of meats of the fattest and [illegible] turkeys, geese and chickens are in [illegible] supply.

[illegible] HAMS.—We see by the California pa[illegible] hams are being favorably re[illegible] markets of our sister State. Cross' [illegible] and Johnson's of Portland, being the [illegible] qualities.

[illegible] Owing to the lateness of the hour at [illegible] the Moses Taylor arrived night before last [illegible] to return thanks to her purser for kind[illegible] files of late papers. We do so now.

[illegible] TO-NIGHT.—Prof. Cardinell, the popular [illegible] of the Terpsichorean art, in this city, will [illegible] at his Hall this evening, when all [illegible] will enjoy a pleasant hour.

[illegible].—The Montana, on her last trip [illegible] place, was eight days and sixteen hours [illegible] to San Francisco.

[illegible] AGAIN.—Hon. M. P. Deady, U. S. [illegible] the District of Oregon, arrived home [illegible] San Francisco by the Moses Taylor.

[illegible] TERM. The present term of the Circuit Court for this District, has already lasted seven [illegible] and still the docket is not cleared.

[illegible] COURT.—The principal part of the day [illegible] was taken up in the argument of the [illegible] of Vaughn vs. Lownsdale.

[illegible] BROWN.—There is a message in the telegraph office for William Brown. It is important.

[illegible].—A sewer is being built on Alder street, [illegible] the Odd Fellows' Temple.

[illegible] has just received per Str Moses Taylor, a [illegible] of gold watches, and chains, new sets of jewelry [illegible] new styles, new and elegant finger rings, and [illegible] patent gold buckles. Call and see them.

[illegible] A CHANGE ON FIRST STREET.—Walking along [illegible] it seems to our citizens to be on Broadway, New York. [illegible] Bros. make quite a display with [illegible] Clothing, Merchant Tailoring and Gents' [illegible] goods that ever was seen in our city, and it is [illegible] how cheap they sell. At the corner in the [illegible] Temple, 101 First street.

THE INDEPENDENT ON THE MESSAGE.—The New York Independent says of the message:

"The first message of President Grant reaches us just before going to press, so that we have neither space nor time for a careful review of its contents. It is of moderate length, clear in statement, frank in its recommendations, dignified in tone, without taint of "buncombe," and presents a view of public affairs which, upon the whole, is such as to encourage the highest hopes for the future."

"Professor," said a student in pursuit of knowledge concerning the habits of animals, "why does a cat, while eating, turn her head first one way and then the other?" "For the reason," replied the professor, "that she cannot turn it both ways at once."

BOYS' CLOTHING.—Another addition to the already large stock of Boys' Clothing was received by Kohn & Fishel. They are really handsome and all custom made. There is nothing more appropriate or more serviceable for a Christmas gift to a boy, than one of those handsome suits. Kohn & Fishel's stock of clothing cannot be surpassed. An examination of their stock will convince all that their stock is the best and at the lowest prices.

OPEN IN THE EVENING.—Jackson, Sanderson & Co. will keep their store open until 9 o'clock in the evening until after the Holidays.

IMPORTANT NEWS.—To gentlemen who are married, those who are going to be, or those who would like to be: If you want to get a fine Suit of Clothing for the Holidays or to get married in, you can find them at very low rates by calling at Beck & Waldman's, corner Front and Washington streets, Portland Oregon.

Dyspepsia in the Pacific States.

Nowhere in the United States has dyspepsia heretofore been more general, or marked with more distressing symptoms, than in California. Luxury, high living and dissipation in the cities, hardship, privation, irregular habits and the effects of malaria in the mining regions, have combined to render Chronic Indigestion one of the most terrible scourges of the Pacific States. It is a source of satisfaction, therefore, to be able to report the gradual and steady decline of the disease and its distressing concomitants on this side of the Continent. As this happy change began to be perceptible soon after HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS had attained the rank of a Standard Remedy in this region, and as it has become more and more apparent, in proportion to the increasing sales of the Great Vegetable Specific, reason suggests that the bane has been ameliorated and checked by the operations of the genial elixir advertised as its antidote. Unprejudiced physicians admit this to be the fact, and abandoning all the ordinary stimulants, as well as the astringent tinctures and mineral excitants of the pharmacopoeia, are now prescribing the BITTERS as a cure for every form of indigestion. The preparation possesses three great advantages over every other so-called stomachic. It is not merely a tonic, but combines the properties of an anti-bilious medicine, a gentle laxative, and a blood-depurent, with those of a wholesome stimulant. It neither depletes nor excites, but strengthens, soothes, purifies and restores. No medicine ever introduced into the Pacific region has so entirely gained the confidence of every class of society, or approached in the extent of its sales HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

POWDER AND SHOT for sale by j6 H W CORBETT & CO.

Saturday Afternoon.

I love to look on a scene like this,
Of wild and careless play,
And persuade myself that I am not old,
And my locks are not yet gray;
For it stirs the blood in an old man's heart,
And makes his pulses fly,
To catch the thrill of a happy voice,
And the light of a pleasant eye.

I have walked the world for fourscore years,
And they say that I am old—
That my heart is ripe for the reaper Death,
And my years are well nigh told;
It is very true—it is very true—
I am old, and "I bide my time;"
But my heart will leap at a scene like this,
And I half renew my prime.

Play on! play on! I am with you there,
In the midst of your merry ring;
I can feel the thrill of the daring jump,
And the rush of the breathless swing;
I hide with you in the fragrant hay,
And I whoop the smothered call,
And my feet slip up on the seedy floor,
And I care not for the fall.

I am willing to die when my time shall come,
And I shall be willing to go—
For the world at best is a weary place,
And my pulse is getting low;
But the grave is dark, and the heart will fail
In treading its gloomy way,
And it wiles my heart from its dreariness
To see the young so gay.—N. P. Willis.

Journalism as a Science.

Mr. George Wilkes, in the Spirit of the Times of a late date, discusses journalism generally and the New York press in particular. We make the following extracts from the article:

"Have we any true journalism in America? Let us look at our own city. Here is the money, the enterprise, the growth, the embodied greatness of an imperial republic. Here we have the richest, most influential, and most gifted newspaper leaders. Mr. Bennett has done a great work. One recalls the building of the Pyramids when he stands in Broadway and thinks that the enterprise which a needy but bold young man began down in the cellar of No. 202, with a board and barrel for a counter, and a small sum of money, has risen in less than a generation to the colossal grandeur of the present Herald office. Mr. Bennett had rare gifts; he had earnestness, good temper, audacity, a keen sense of ridicule. Bitter years with Martin Van Buren and the selfish horde of Jackson's followers, taught him the folly of trusting the honor or gratitude of politicians. These gifts made his enterprise a success, but they were rather personal qualities and virtues of temperament, and can never be made in any general law or custom.

"The Tribune is essentially Horace Greeley. It is merely the plinth upon which he has stood for thirty years, and on which he stands to-day in monolithic grandeur, one of the greatest men of the age, with rare qualities, wide influence, and singular power over the hearts of honest, earnest men. Mr. Greeley's work has not been that of a journalist, nor will such be his fame. He will be remembered with Henry Ward Beecher and Wendell Phillips, Theodore Parker and Ralph Waldo Emerson, as men of reflection, whose work would have been done if the Tribune had never existed. If Providence should remove Mr. Greeley, upon what would the Tribune rest? What law or custom, or scientific application of principle would continue it the power it now possesses? The life, perhaps the success, of the Tribune comes from the violation of true journalism—Impersonality. The Tribune is great because of Mr. Greeley, and Mr. Greeley is great because of the Tribune. Each should have had an identity and greatness independent of the other—something which even death would not sever.

"Speaking of the eminent editor of the Times, Mr. Raymond, remarked in the Times, it was the highest type of impersonal, scientific journalism. When he went out of it into Congress and the legislative and political enterprises and collisions, he failed, yet few men had more elements of success in statesmanship and politics. He was probably the best journalist of his time—not equal to Mr. Bennett in some qualities, nor to Mr. Greeley in many others, but with a serene, impartial, courageous appreciation of the true duties of his calling, which we scarcely ever hope to see again. Mr. Raymond never blundered, unless when he stooped, and in the light of true journalism, any position outside of the editor's independent chair is stooping. When Mr. Bigelow succeeded him, and spoke of a career like Mr. Raymond's as one that might 'lead to high honors,' the journalist saw that whatever name courtesy would give his Evening Post experiences, he had to learn the alphabet of his profession, for there are no honors tempting enough for the ambition of a great journalist. As a journalist, Mr. Marble has shown great genius, and a broad, liberal appreciation of the ethics of the press.

"Mr. Bryant is not a journalist, but a poet who spends his time in contemplating the glories of our rich autumn woods, and the accidental, easy earned revenue of his newspaper. Mr. Brooks edits his paper on the true rag-paper principle, and makes a newspaper which has a variegated rag carpet appearance—looks as well upside down—and gives its readers the smallest amount of matter that possibly can be furnished for the money.

"No editor has a right to make his newspaper the absolute expression of his own opinions, any more than the governor of a state has a right to regard the commonwealth as his personal property. The editor is an administrator. His duty is to speak the truth, but to speak it so it may be heard. He should observe the tides and currents of public opinion as carefully as the mariner who watches the tides and currents of the sea. There is a time for speech and a time for silence. It is a mistake to endeavor to arrest the hungry multitude, and compel them to pause and hear you expound 'doctrines' and 'ideas.' This should be left to the street preacher who mounts a barrel on one of our piers and begins howling to the stevedores and longshoremen to 'prepare for death.' They stop, and look, and laugh, and stroll away. He means well, and it is wise that he should preach, but he is doing the right thing at the wrong time. This is the mistake of the editor who really believes his personality is of any moment to his readers—that they care one whit about his hopes, his fears, his anticipations. The press should have no life and death, times and seasons, no apparent humanity. Impersonality is power. The newspaper is an element, intangible, spiritual—the concentration of thought and intelligence.

"Personal journalism, as it is in America, exalts one man to the detriment of others. True personal journalism is what we see in France, and every man who writes should speak in his own name. As it is now one man is seen by the public, and very often the voice they hear is that of others speaking through him. Look at the work which Mr. Congdon has done, and yet Mr. Congdon is unknown to the outer world as a man of great genius and versatility. Look at the influence which men like Smalley, Mackenzie, Chamberlin, Croly, Sheppard, Conant, Wallis, Reid, Swinton, Hurlburt, Hassard, O'Donnell, Howard, and others like them have exercised over their newspapers, and yet their names are only known in the circle of the press. Our personal journalism is merely selfishness, and has all the evils without any of the advantages of the system pursued in France."

Kentucky—The Governor's Address.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 6.—The General Assembly of Kentucky met at Frankfort to-day, and organized by the election of P. H. Leslie, of Warren county President of the Senate, and J. R. Bunch, Speaker of the House. The Governor's message was then read. The Governor takes a cheerful view of the existing condition of the affairs of Kentucky and makes some important recommendations. Financially, he says, the State is in a most healthy condition. If the outstanding bonds were now due, and the $840,849 55 due from the Revenue Department proper to the State were returned, the resources would be more than sufficient to pay off the State debt. He recommends the appointment of three competent Commissioners to revise the revenue laws; that the present State agency for the collection of the Government war claims of the Commonwealth be abolished, and that the Commissioner of the Sinking Fund be authorized to employ some responsible person to do the work; that the question of calling a Convention for a revision of the Constitution be submitted to the people; that a general law of incorporation for banks and other companies be enacted, under which any company may organize by putting the terms of its organization on record and giving notice and that a Bureau of Insurance be established as a safeguard. He speaks highly of the present management of the Penitentiary, but is persuaded that the prison system requires thorough reformation. In reference to the Reform School, he says that the building will be completed by the first of September next. The Asylum he refers to as in an unfavorable condition. The surveys of the Kentucky river have all been completed, and the ten additional locks, which will extend navigation to Three Forks, put under contract. He suggests that measures be taken for the extension of the United States Coast Survey, so that Kentucky and the Mississippi valley may be included. He favors the enactment of a law for the registry of marriages and births. He alludes to the overwhelming majority of the people of Kentucky on the assessment for the establishment of the common school system on a permanent basis, and invites the attention of the General Assembly to the full consideration of the plan which is to be submitted by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Referring to various acts of violence committed in the State last Summer, he asserts a determination to call out the militia for the arrest of offenders on all occasions when the peace of the Commonwealth may demand such actions. He suggests the repeal of the present militia law, and inclines to the opinion that the volunteer system is best.

The Governor pays brief and appropriate tribute to the memory of the late ex-Governor C. A. Wyckliffe. On the question of immigration he takes broad ground, and suggests the circulation in Europe of correct information as to the advantages open to the immigrant in Kentucky, that more capital and skilled labor may find its way to this State. Several other matters are touched upon, and in conclusion he refers to the friendly spirit so rapidly taking the place of the prejudices engendered by the war, and enters a calm protest against the usurpations of the centralized power.

UNDER NEW YORK—THE CENTRAL UNDERGROUND RAILWAY.—The work will be commenced simultaneously all along the line, and it is proposed to have 1,000 men engaged on the great work at a time. The work when commenced will be pushed forward by day and night, the earth being drawn out on over 1,000 carts during the night, while the streets are unobstructed. Every effort will be made to push the work on the lower end of the tunnel, and as soon as the road is completed to Union Square the cars will begin to run. The principal depot will be at the lower terminus, between the old City Hall and the new postoffice. This depot will be 500 feet long, and will be a splendid architectural work, well lighted and ventilated. It is proposed to have stations at intervals of about one fourth of a mile along the route, to be reached by ornamental stairways from the sidewalks. The largest sub-station between the City Hall and Harlem will be at Union and Madison squares. The proposed route of the tunnel is from the City Hall easterly across Center street, across Pearl street to Mulberry, under Mulberry to Bleecker street, across Bleecker to Lafayette Place, up Lafayette Place to Astor Place, across Eighth street, under St. Ann's church to the westerly side of Fourth avenue to Union square; the tunnel will then be continued to Seventeenth street and in a direct line to Twenty-third street; then under Madison square to Madison avenue and up Madison avenue to eighty-sixth street; thence in a direct line to 120th street and to the Harlem river, and thence along Harlem river to the head of Third avenue.

The amount of capital required is immense, and subscriptions, however small, will be solicited from all citizens. The directors estimate that the cost of the road, according to the new report of the engineers, will amount to $10,000,000 or $12,000,000. At least they will not undertake the work without $10,000,000 being subscribed, so that they will be able to defray all expenses at the end of each week while the road is being constructed. If the road to Harlem proves a success it is the intention of the company to extend it into Westchester at once.

The St. Louis Republican has a column of "Womanalities" and another of "Connubialities." [illegible]

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

PORTLAND, Dec. 24, 1869.

Private dispatches from New York quote Gold steady for some days past at 120@120¼.

San Francisco Legal Tender rates, 82¼ buying, 83¼ selling. In Portland the prevailing rates are 82@82¼, with a more active circulation.

Throughout the country at large the condition of the money market is encouraging. Business men are in good spirits, and only a few, comparatively speaking, experience any difficulty in meeting their liabilities. The financial policy of the Government since the close of the war, so far, has not been unsuccessful, considering the circumstances, and judging from the President's message and the report of Mr. Boutwell, Secretary of the Treasury, there is but little danger but that the management of the finances of the country is in safe hands. This is especially true of the President and Cabinet, as is manifest by the growing satisfaction expressed in all our Eastern exchanges in regard to the policy laid down in the annual message and accompanying documents. The New York correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin in speaking of this matter, says:

> Whatever uncertainty or surprise has overshadowed the business community during the last few months, touching the future financial policy, is likely to disappear after the annual reports shall have been digested. Confidence is already beginning to be restored, and it seems to be the prevailing sentiment that, after the turn of the year, the conspicuous depression, which has lately pervaded, and still pervades, mercantile circles, will give place to comparative strength and business health. But as there is a perfect avalanche of bills of a specious and pernicious character ready to be showered upon Congress, and as a strong and persistent lobby has been organized to "push them," there is danger that much mischief will be accomplished at the Capitol this winter.
> Not among the least of the vicious schemes pending, is a formidable list of enterprises, good, bad and indifferent, which seek promotion through the aid of Government subsidies. It is estimated that the aggregate amount of money which Government will be requested to disburse for all manner of schemes this winter, will not fall short of $500,000,000. Those who have a taste for steamship lines, trans-continental railroads and ship canals, or who believe that all the crooked rivers should be made straight, shallow harbors deepened, navigable rivers spanned, mines developed, overflowed lands reclaimed, seem to be of opinion that it is the mission of "Uncle Sam" to enter into a sort of co-partnership with them, to the end that he furnish the capital and they pocket the emoluments. These modest people seem to forget that their Uncle is already deeply in debt, that in case the further obligations which they would not hesitate to impose upon him, might force him into bankruptcy. nor do they stop one minute to consider that forty millions of his family have quite as good claims upon him as have the more opulent ten thousand of the same household.
> The commerce of the country, though not in that flourishing condition which her interests would seem to demand, is growing in importance and gaining strength. Too much of our shipping is done in foreign bottoms, and until this is remedied our importers will be at the mercy of the British, German and French shippers.

The markets on the Pacific coast present no unusual features, though there seems to be an increasing confidence on the part of business men that the danger of a great financial pressure, which seemed impending a few months since, is passing away. San Francisco dealers are pursuing a more liberal policy of late in regard to other portions of the Pacific coast, which they will find to redound to their own interests.

Our own market is dull in some respects, but not more so than could be expected at this season. Dealers are closing the business operations of the year, and trade is consequently inactive, except that usually incident to the holiday season.

Sales of grain and flour have been light for a day or two past.

Bacon and lard command a ready sale at prices fairly remunerative to producers. Of imported groceries the supply is good, with a slight tendency downward.

Weekly Retail Family Market.

PORTLAND, Dec. 24, 1869

The vegetable and poultry markets are full, and prices remain at nearly the same figures given last week. Chickens, geese and turkeys are more abundant than ever before, and are offered at figures that will enable all to have the usual good cheer on the occasion of the holidays.

Fruit has advanced, and apples and pears are getting a little scarcer, though no lack is now, or likely to be, felt.
